Links to Learning Red Hill Challenge 2015

Team Building, Cooperation & Leadership Day

On Friday the 13th of November, 15 secondary students experienced a great fun day of learning together with students from Gulgong High School. This day involved instruction in First Aid skills and training in GPS and UHF radios. After the two workshops we put our skills to the test when small groups went on a 5km walk around Gulgong and some of us were truly challenged! After an enjoyable lunch we had some relaxation exercises, to cool down. Each student received a thumb drive with relaxation strategies and water bottle as a souvenir of the day. I would like to thank Sue Fuller and her team at Red Hill for organising an excellent day for us and Western Student Connections, Dubbo, for sponsoring this worthwhile event.

Here are some students comments:

- ⇒ "I enjoyed the challenge and hope we can go again someday" - Stuart Nelson
- ⇒ "It was fun walking around Gulgong and seeing new places that I have never seen before" - Shanara Martin
- ⇒ "I was a really fun day. It was good because there were lots of interesting things to do. The chicken burgers were amazing too!" - Mitchell George
- ⇒ "It was a great day and I met new people and we all had fun together" - Jaycob Kelly
- ⇒ "I was able to use my leadership skills to guide younger students" - Sarah Eckman-Large
- ⇒ "It was a pleasure to take such a lovely group of students and see them represent our school so well and develop new skills" - Mrs Sullivan.

Well done students, we were very proud of you all. Mrs Sullivan & Belinda Hogden

Principal's Message

Hello everybody. The final Year 10 Work Experience takes place this week with all students placed in businesses close to home. This program is very good for students as they gain a greater understanding of the pressures and expectations of the work place. It also allows local employers to interact with our students and gain an understanding of the quality, attitude and work ethic of these fine young people. Many a good vocation has been earned through work experience.

Headspace spoke to Year 8 today about the pressures of school and the dangers and impacts of bullying. Nick and Jess provided a great workshop which related well to our students because of the personal interest stories which they or their colleagues have experienced or witnessed.

The Yr 6 into 7 transition will take place tomorrow, with year 6 students experiencing the rigours of High School lessons and following a timetable, including the expectations of the teachers and the pressures of moving between classrooms and arriving on time. We have found that the anxiety and stress students may have on entering high school are instantly alleviated by this experience. Parents of these students are also supported through the Information Evening that concludes the day. Parents' anxieties are put to rest very quickly through this information evening which usually concludes with a tour of the secondary facilities.

Years 8, 9 and 11 will have a unique talk by some practicing engineers through a program called "Engineers without Borders". Engineering is a profession which deals with planning, designing and solving problems in the work place.

Yr 5/6 will receive a talk on Sex Education this week. With students needing key information about serious issues, relating to body changes through maturation, forming relationships and possible sexual activity in the future, at a younger age, we hope that they will be well informed when difficult decisions need to be made. These talks are very informative and provide current information on a number of very relevant issues impacting on the young people of today. Difficult questions can be answered in a professional way in a controlled environment.

Yr 11 Interviews will take place on Wednesday between students, Mrs Fergusson (Careers Teacher) and myself. These are designed to assist students to begin focussing on goals and strategies which will assist them to maximise their marks and their choices for and beyond the HSC.

SENA testing is being conducted in the Infants School to assess the numeracy development of students throughout this year. It helps teachers to find areas in which students have excelled and areas which still need development. The testing is augmented by the Count Me In Too Numeracy program which teaches students a number of successful strategies to solve numerical problems. This process is supporting students to achieve excellent results in Year 3 NAPLAN and beyond.

WE have another student-teacher joining us for his Practicum over the next three weeks. His name is Benjamin Bruce, and he is working with Mr Kline's class. I hope everyone will make Benjamin feel welcome, and support him, so that his experience is worthwhile and productive.

Fifteen SRC students are scheduled to attend the National Young Leaders Conference in Sydney this week. This is a fantastic program which allows our students to not only meet like-minded students from other schools, from across the state, but also gain well presented information about leadership, achievement, the importance of goal setting, utilising the experience of mentors and working with others, from a range of noted Australians including Generals, CEO's, Celebrities and Sports Stars. Governor General, Sir Peter Cosgrove, round the World sailor, Jessica Watson and Premier, Mike Baird are noted former speakers at this event.

Reports are now being reviewed by Executive Teachers and are on track to be delivered to students by the scheduled date.

Our end of Year Scripture Assembly will take place this Friday and is always a happy, fun-related event revealing our students' connection with the Christian ethos and the values shown to us by Jesus. Our Scripture teachers always work hard with the students to provide a very entertaining assembly.

Mark Young our Director, once again complimented us for being an exemplary school. Well done students and staff. Enjoy your week!

PRIMARY NEWS

Well it's certainly warmed up now, hasn't it? With the warmer weather comes the timely reminder about bringing a refillable water bottle to school so that students can remain hydrated throughout the day. Don't forget your hat, too. Last week we heard some truly great speeches from our students who put themselves up for nomination for the position of school captain in 2016. Well done to all of you for your courage and maturity. This week we have a few changes to the Primary timetable, beginning with the Year 6 Transition Day on Tuesday. On Wednesday students from Years 5 and 6 will participate in a Personal Development workshop with Women's Health Nurse, Sarah Norman. Notes about this went home with all year 5 and 6 students last Wednesday afternoon. We finish the week off with our Scripture Concert, to be held in the school hall on Friday. Don't forget Primary continue to visit the pool for sport on Friday afternoons, and require their swimming gear, hats, towels and entry fee.

This is the last Homework Centre for this Year. A huge thankyou to Mrs Yeo, Mrs Armstrong, Mr Kline and Miss Yeo for giving up their time to supervise this activity.

Mrs Georgia Shephard, Assist. Principal Primary

Year 2/3: Hello all, Year 2/3 welcome Mr Bruce into their classroom for the next three weeks. Mr Bruce is a 2nd year prac student studying at the Australian Catholic University and we are looking forward to his time with us.

The Infants Intensive Swimming Program starts next week and I will be joining in the fun. Don't forget children need to bring their swimmers, a towel, hat, t-shirt and thongs or sandals to walk down to the pool. Cost is $2 each day unless they have a season ticket. During the program, Mrs Shephard (Mon) and Miss Yeo (Tues-Fri) will be taking Year 3 for the middle Literacy session.

This week's news topic is 'Personal News'. Have a great week. Mr Ben Kline

Year 3/4: Hello and welcome to week 8. This week in Year 3 Maths we will be looking at 'Division' and 'Problem Solving'. The homework sheet will cover last week's topic 'Chance'.

In writing, we will begin constructing our own draft Reviews and will hopefully be publishing them soon. The focus for this week in Grammar is 'Quoted and Reported Speech'.

Congratulations to my Student of the Week from last week Sophie Kensit, and to my merit certificate recipients Mia Gallagher and Alexander Patyuk. Enjoy your week, Miss Yeo 😊

Year 4/5: Welcome to Week 8 everyone, well done to all the students in the class who received Merit Awards last week! Although ACE has finished it is a pleasure to reward those students for their outstanding effort and terrific results. The ACE reward days will be happening soon for students who have qualified. P.S - Report marks and comments have been forwarded on to Mrs Shephard and Mr Campbell for final perusals. Stay tuned for the release date of end of year reports and our annual Award Night. Have a great week everybody! Cheers, Mr. A Honeysett

Year 6: This is it! We've reached the final week for Personal Interest Project presentations and the students continue to impress me with their passion and knowledge on a wide range of topics – from dinosaurs to BMX riding. I have got to know the students, their interests, learning styles and abilities through this process, and it has been such a valuable experience. Mrs Sams has been taking the Year 6 students for English lessons, which complements our work in COG's (Identity). Students are encouraged to look at current affairs topics from multiple perspectives, and this has generated great interest and passionate discussions in Mrs Sams' classroom. Although the end of term is fast approaching, I would like to encourage students to continue to do their homework – particularly the reading and spelling components. Have a great week everyone. Mrs Shephard

Year 6 Maths: This week students will only have Maths on Monday and Thursday due to the Yr 6—7 Orientation Day on Tuesday and the Personal Development Day on Wednesday. During these lessons we will be working on Graphs. There will be no homework this week. Students will bring home their Term 4 Diagnostic test on Thursday.

Chaplain's Chat

How do you and your family cope with loss and grief? We each seem to have our own unique way of doing this. But, I am wondering what helps you to cope? There are many things we grieve about in our lives, and not just the death of a loved one. We also grieve when we lose our health, when we move (especially if we were happy previously), when our circumstances change (loss of job, health or mobility). I am aware of a friend who is dealing with loss of licence, which in turn has led to loss of job.

Our children often have loss imposed through our actions as parents. We move – often work related – and they have to adapt to new school: culture, friends and people; and mourn the loss of their old system. How do we support them?

We have several means available:

Let them talk about it, what is making them happy and sad at present;

Ask what they would like to be doing. No, we can't undo that but how can we work through this together?

Be supportive – let their class/year teacher know there is an issue so it can be monitored at school, and communication established to support your child. Children often 'act out' to draw attention to their emotional pain.

Our young people haven't always got the words at their disposal to tell us that a feeling is 'not right' in their world – especially if it is. "I know I should be happy, but I feel so alone" is often accompanied by a sense of guilt because mum/dad/others are so happy at this change.

Children grieve when illness attacks their family. Not their own illness, but a parent or sick sibling upsets the balance and ushers in more change. This is often complicated by feeling guilty about their reaction.

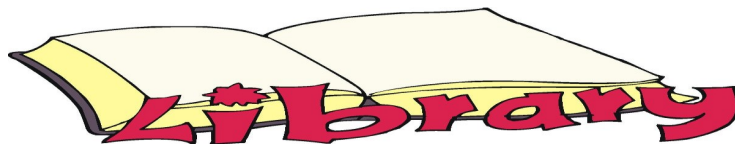

Other signs may be a change in their attitude to school, where once they couldn't get there quick enough, now they long to stay away; "It's not a happy place any more since my friend left" may indicate the issue.

Love your child. Accept what is going on as their reality. If you are really concerned about changed behaviour or anxiety, talk with the doctor and the class teacher.

Our children are our future. Parenting didn't come with a handbook – well, not in my experience – but I sometimes felt and still feel as if they had access to one in the womb which adults and parents are expected to know intuitively. We aren't perfect people, we are however people who strive to do our best for our children.

Have a happy week,

Beth Bowman
Chaplain
